PREFACE

Connecting people through food

Our mission is to connect people through food. By offering delicious and healthy food and drinks, we strive to provide the ultimate campus experience every day. We believe that people perform optimally when there is a good balance between performance and relaxation. In addition to providing moments of relaxation, we are committed to working with you to build a better environment and a sustainable future for our planet. Our approach to food and drink preparation prioritizes health, sustainability, and minimizing food waste, making them the pillars of our work.

Health and sustainability

Our commitment to health and sustainability reflects our belief that being healthy for ourselves is intricately linked to being healthy for the world. With an astonishing 30% of fresh food wasted worldwide, we are committed to doing our part to minimize waste. This applies to banqueting too, where a fixed assortment and the consumption of meat can have a significant impact on our footprint. To minimize our footprint, we adapt our offerings to the supply in our restaurants and prioritize in-season food, which our bodies need and is readily available at that time. In addition, we emphasize plant-based proteins over animal proteins in our food and drink offerings.

Reducing food waste

We are committed to minimizing food waste by offering separate arrangements for food and drinks, ensuring that you have the flexibility to select items that won't go to waste. In addition, if you are unable to finish your meal, we provide a convenient foody bag for you to take your food with you and enjoy it later.

The assortment

This map provides an overview of the most common banqueting options, and we are always happy to work with you to accommodate any special requests you may have. Our team of experts is available to provide personalized advice on menu composition and dishes, and we specialize in organizing receptions, dinners, and other events to make your experience as enjoyable and memorable as possible.

Our strength

The strength of our team at HTC lies in customization, we are experts in thinking along with the request of our guests. This includes coming up with the food options as well as creating the right environment and atmosphere. However, if you prefer choosing from a standard selection, this menu of popular food and drink items will suffice.
